against me. Their own consciences will tell them to whom I allude. I had intended to write a statement for the I had intended to write a statement for the public, but I have reconsidered the matter. Knowing that the public cares but little about me, only to gossip about my misfortune, and, as they already know more about the matter than I do, and yet know nothing at all. I will confine this to you and my immediate friends. However, if you desire you can let this be printed. I am sorry to mix up, this letter with anything that does not speak of the love of God and the hope of heaven, but I am not insensible to the Injustices that have been perpetrated against me, therefore I have mentioned them. I had hoped to live that by my example and by my teaching of the Scriptures, and in singing of the beautiful hymns, which I have learned here, that I might be of more service to my Heavenly Master, and be the instrument in God's hands to bring to the fold in peace and safety some poor souls from off of the rocks and crags of sin. But I submit anyself calmly to His Divine will, knowing that He does all things well. I earnestly entreat you, my dear wife, to look to Jesus in all of your sorrows, in all of your transless. He will lead you through, and give you the victory if your faith fails not. It pays to serve Jesus, I speak from my heart. He will always be with us if we do our part. There's naught in this wide world can pleasure afford, like peace and contentment in serving the Lord, Yes, my dear wife, if you will trust Him, He will lead you through all of your sorrows, and at last give you a home in His kingdom. I die in faith, in His love and mercy and power to save, and, though I may sleep in my grave a few years before you, yet we will awake together in the last day, and be forever blessed. And now I say goodbye, from your devoted husband, in the hope of heaven. G. W. HORTON."

Horton as a Pollceman.

Horton as a Policeman.

When George W. Horton was appointed cupation was given as that of a coffee roaster. The records of the police department show that he was born in Virginia at the time of his appointment as a mem-ber of the police department. In February, 1891, he was promoted to the second class. Four years later he was tried on charges

Four years later he was tried on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer, and dismissed. About fifteen months later he received a reappointment on the force. September 30 of the following year he was dismissed for neglect of duty.

Frank Nicholson, the husband of Horton's victim, who afterward committed suicide, entered many complaints against Horton for having broken up his home. In addition to the complaints he made he indulged in threats against the policeman, and, it is stated, a Police Court trial was the result. Horton was on the police relief list, and has kept up his payments. His widow will receive about 3690 from his source. Each member of the relief society will have to pay $1 to this fund, which will probably be done next month.

Horton's Crime.

Horton's Crime.

Horton was indicted for the murder of Mrs. Nicholson, July 13, 1898, and the following day was arraigned. He entered a plea of not guilty. The trial began May 16 last. Two days were devoted to empaneling a jury.

The case attracted widespread attention. and the court room was crowded throughout the hearing. The defendant, a man of middle age, was neatly dressed and of respectable appearance, and was, to all appearances, the least concerned of any one in attendance at the trial. His wife, however, was deeply interested in every word spoken, her feelings evidently being highly wrought up. Other relatives of the defendant were also present.

The presecution was in the hands of Messrs, Joseph Shillington and John E. Laskey, at that time assistant United States attorney for the District of Columbia. Attorneys Tracy I. Jeffords and Robert G. Wells appeared for Horton.

Justice Clabaugh, the 16th of June, after overruling a motion for a new trial, sentenced Horton to be hanged Friday, the 19th of November, between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and 2 o'clock p.m. An appeal to the Court of Appeals was noted and granted. The appeal was fully argued the latter part of October. The court handed down an opinion affirming the judgment of the lower court.

In order that counsel might have an opportunity to apply to the Supreme Court of the United States for permission to take the case before that tribunal, the President respited Horton until today. The Supreme Court, however, declined to consider the case. After that counsel and the relatives and friends of the condemned man exerted every effort to secure executive clemency, but without success. The warrant of execution was issued from the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia the 27th utimo. and the court room was crowded throughout the hearing. The defendant, a man of middle age, was neatly dressed and of re-

Popular Prices for Popular Toys and Dolls.

Now, then, you have had opportunity to contrast our TOY STORE'S complete stock with the Toy departments that have sprung up to catch the Xmas trade—and you must have noted a difference in the variety and character of the Toys and Dolls. Ours are the best sorts—that had to be ordered weeks, months in advance—(some of them way last January). They are the new novelties-the kinds time was taken in the making that they might be strongly and thoroughly made.

Comparison of prices will also prove that we are lowest—LOWEST FOR BEST—which is the truly cheapest. For in Toys as in all else QUALITY IS EVERYTHING. Quality is in everything here. We shall be pleased to have you bring the children tomorrow for a look at Santa Claus' surprises. We give you these few price hints as indicative of the advantage in buying here:

Enormous Reductions in Ladies' Fine Silk Dress Waists and Silk Petticoats.

In line with the policy inaugurated by us last week in connection with the Ladies' and Misses' Suits and Jackets-that of making the usual January clearances during THIS month-for our joint advantage. Therefore you may pitch your expectations high and come tomorrow counting on getting Waists and Skirts of the very choicest values at prices that have been completely dismantled of all profit—and in many cases even deeply cut into original cost. Why not consider them for gifts as well as for your own service? Surely their acceptability is a foregone conclusion.

There Are Six Lots of the Waists.

Still a Choice of Ladies' Suits and Jackets at 1/3 Off.

And it could not help being a desirable choice, for there are none but desirable Suits and Jackets in the offering. They are garments that formed a popular part of our regular stock—with all the extra careful making and extra worth of value that goes into regular stock-especially OURS.

If attendance is measure of appreciation we have done the most approved thing in making this cut now. In the week closing last night we sold more Suits and more Jackets than were ever sold in same space of time in Washington before. But they were Saks garments—and a Saks reduction—and you have learned to have confidence in both. Not necessary to reprint the prices. Whatever they have been a THIRD OFF buys them now.

Last of the Lowrey Men's Winter Underwear. Something like 250 pieces yet remain of the 16 cases—Shirts and Drawers of Cashmere, Natural Wool, and Derby Ribbed; some fleece-lined—but all of it fine Underwear—that retails up to $1.75 and $2 a garment. As must be expected—the sizes are somewhat broken. But there are nine chances to one that you can be fitted. It will probably all be gone by tomorrow night.
